DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.
2. The specification as originally filed is defective because the instant titanium aluminide composition in claim 11 is not supported by said specification. Applicants are required to amend the specification to be consistent with said claim.

Claim Objections

3. Claim 11 is objected to because of the following informalities: The composition of as set forth in claim 11 is not disclosed in instant specification. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over USP 5262123 Thomas et al.

7. Thomas disclose(s) the features including the claimed processing steps of heating a titanium aluminide bank (col. 3, lines 10-15) to a transformation temperature (col. 1, lines 10-11 and col. 2, lines 45-58) and mixing or remixing the bank under compression in the direction parallel with the axis of relative rotation (col. 1, lines 40-48 and Figures 1(a-d) and 12). The bank is heated with induction heater in controlled atmosphere or in vacuum (col. 7, lines 17-19). The difference between the reference(s) and the claims are as follows: Thomas does not disclose the bank is heated over its full length or only the deformed area. However, the claimed full length or deformed area reads on the heated zone as disclose in col. 1, lines 63-68. When prior art compounds essentially "bracketing" the claimed compounds in structural similarity are all known, one of ordinary skill in the art would clearly be motivated to make those claimed compounds in searching for new products in the expectation that compounds similar in structure will have similar properties. In re Gyurik, 596 F.2d 1012, 1018, 201 USPQ 552, 557 (CCPA 1979); See In re May, 574 F.2d 1082, 1094, 197 USPQ 601, 611 (CCPA 1978) and In re Hoch, 57 CCPA 1292, 1296, 428 F.2d 1341, 1344, 166 USPQ 406, 409 (1970). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select any portion of range, including the claimed range, from the broader range disclosed in a prior art reference because the prior art reference finds that the prior art composition in the entire disclosed range has a suitable utility. Also see MPEP § 2131.03 and § 2123.

8. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over USP 5262123 Thomas et al as applied to claims 1-10 above, and further in view of JP 03285757.

9. The claimed subject matter as is disclosed and rejected above by Thomas except for the specific titanium aluminide composition. However, JP 03285757 in abstract discloses the claimed titanium aluminide composition and elements are conventional in the same field of endeavor or the analogous metallurgical art. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art of the cited references at the time the invention was made to provide the process of Thomas with any conventional material species motivated by a reasonable expectation of success in order to obtain all of the known benefits. It has been held a use of new material in old patented process is not invention since process is merely being used with analogous material in same art for which process was developed, In re LaVerne, et al., 108 USPQ 335.

Conclusion

The above rejection relies on the reference(s) for all the teachings expressed in the text(s) of the references and/or one of ordinary skill in the metallurgical art would have reasonably understood or implied from the text(s) of the reference(s). To emphasize certain aspect(s) of the prior art, only specific portion(s) of the text(s) have been pointed out. Each reference as a whole should be reviewed in responding to the rejection, since other sections of the same reference and/or various combination of the cited references may be relied on in future rejection(s) in view of amendment(s).

All recited limitations in the instant claims have been met by the rejections as set forth above.

Applicant is reminded that when amendment and/or revision is required, applicant should therefore specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure. See 37 C.F.R. § 1.121.
